Report on Series of Sessions on Research Awareness

Date: 30-01-2020

Venue: Main Seminar Hall

About Research and Development Cell

Jayamukhi Institute of Technological Sciences (JITS) established R&D Cell to promote and encourage research and development activities among the faculty and students with the following objectives:

- Creation of enhanced and unified campus-wide research environment to excel over the contemporary researchers whereby faculty and students are inspired to reach the boundaries of knowledge for the benefit of the community
- Collaboration with reputed research institutions around the world in the advancement of knowledge
- To become the Voice of the research community at Jayamukhi to ensure the optimal and effective use of intellectual, financial, physical and digital resources

JITS also initiates the system of in-house research funding to encourage the faculty and students to get engaged in research work on continuous basis. The Researchers of the institute accomplished 26 Research Projects of Rs. 1,57,39,235/- funded by AICTE, UGC, JNTUH/ TEQIP-III, and TEXAS.

Functions of R&D Cell

- To recognize thrust areas of research
- To encourage and motivate the faculty members to prepare research projects and to scrutinize them before the final submission for funding agencies
- To collaborate with various industries/institutions in the promotion of research work
- To identify physical and human resources requirements for the execution of research work
- To review the progress of research work periodically and to offer necessary guidance wherever required

- To make budgetary allocation by the College for funding the research proposals and other innovative projects
